

KINDERGARTEN NEWS 3/27/17

Reading: This week we continue to work on all the letters (vowels a, i, o), sounds, sight words, and sounding out 3 letter words with a, i, or o in the middle. We continue to practice blends (fl, gr, sc, st, tr, br, sm) and ending sounds. We are reviewing rhyming words. We will evaluate their oral reading this week. The books that we "test" are actually easier than the books we read in class.

Math: We continue to compare numbers to 20, counting past 100, and now to 100 by 5's. When your child counts past 100, make sure that they do not say "and" (101 is said: one hundred one---not one hundred and one). This is a bad habit to break once started. Most of the children are good at comparing numbers (fewer and more). We do number stories in class to aid in addition and subtraction comprehension.

Homework:

Tuesday: we will read sentences

Wednesday: subtraction and write the word

Thursday: subtraction and patterning
